

Jap Internees Lose Plea for Job Insurance

Thirteen Japanese internees recently lost their appeal to the California Unemployment Insurance Appeal board for unemployment insurance covering their period of incarceration in the camps.

The board upheld a referee's decision in the 13 cases, as well as continuing action taken in nearly 500 previous cases by the last board.

The claims were overruled on grounds that the Japanese internees were held in the camps and thus had not been "available for work" under terms of the law during the period claimed for compensation. Another group's claims was overruled on the basis of insufficient earnings during the period.

Homer W. Buckley, chairman of the board, pointed out that while in the camps the Japanese received free food, lodging and medical attention from the government. They also were allowed to work for wages ranging from $16 to $19 per month on odd jobs at the relocation centers.

He added that "one of the basic ideas" of the state's unemployment compensation act was to prevent hardships to those unemployed through no fault of their own.

Obviously, he said, the Japanese did not use their unemployment compensation to buy food, shelter or medical attention, and they were able to supplement the necessities of life out of their earnings at the camp.

County Plan to Solve Manpower Problem Started

Acting to relieve the existing labor crisis, the Emergency Manpower committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, headed by Letroy M. Edwards, was being formed today on a county-wide basis to afford representation for the various communities.

In establishing this committee, Edwards said, labor heads, industrial operators, educators, the clergy, civic leaders and others in varied walks of life are being asked to serve.

The program to recruit workers embodies a house-to-house recruitment drive. An educational campaign to lead greater numbers of "white collar" workers into part-time employment in war plants. Inventory youth in high schools for part-time work. Tighten availability certificate issuance. Reduce absenteeism and worker turnover by advertising the harmful effects of these evils, and by inducing stores and businesses to remain open one night each week to serve daytime employees of war plants. Study facts concerning payments to persons on unemployment compensation rolls. Urge shippers to release up to 15 per cent of their employees, that these workers may be redistributed to other industries. Reduce cost-plus contracts, through substitution of bid-price and fixed-price contracts.

How to Obtain Ration Book 4 October 20-23

Detailed instructions on how to obtain War Ration Book 4 were issued today by Paul Barksdale O'R, Southland District O. P.A. ration chief.

The registration procedure is extremely simple and Southland citizens will be able to obtain book 4 with a minimum of inconvenience if they remember the following:

1. Bring War Ration Book 3—the last ration book you received—when you apply for book 4.
2. One individual may obtain book 4 for all members of his family, related by blood, marriage or adoption, residing at the same address. Each individual's War Ration Book 3 must be presented, however.
3. Ration Book 4 will be distributed at elementary schools throughout Los Angeles county during the period starting Oct. 20 through Oct. 23.
4. Apply early for the new book. Persons waiting until the end of the distribution period before applying will cause delay and overburden distribution facilities.
5. Book 3, now being used to purchase rationed meats, fats, oils and dairy products, was distributed to the public by mail last June and July. Individuals who have not a book 3, and who wish to obtain book 4, should apply immediately for book 3 at their local war price and ration board.

Souvenir Sunday Interesting Time For Navy Seabees

"Souvenir Sunday" they call that day of doubtful rest on Guadalcanal—the day American servicemen comb the hinterlands collecting anything from a Jap skull to a wing off a Zero.

Recently, two Navy construction battalion workers embarked on one of these island excursions bent on acquiring a trophy or two for the folks back home.

According to 11th Naval District officials the Seabees came across a dirty and disheveled man carrying a Japanese rifle and yelling:

"What'll you take for that gun?"

The man dropped the rifle and fled into the jungle, apparently scared to death.

He was a Jap.

The Seabees got their souvenir. They said they'll get the owner later.

Ceiling prices for 1942 cabbage seed have been made the same as for the 1943 crop, according to a recent O.P.A. amendment.

Presidential Primary Ballot Changes Noted

The California ballot for next May's presidential primary election will bear the name only of actual presidential aspirants, and the new type ballot was seen today as an advantage for the better known candidates.

Under a law passed at the 1941 session of the legislature, the long list of delegates proposed by the opposing party factions as delegates to the national conventions will be eliminated. There will be space on the ballot only for the presidential candidates and there will not be a spot for a write-in candidate.

One effect will be that uninvited delegations, such as the Republican party has sent to the conventions in recent years, apparently will be a thing of the past.

There are more than 300 lakes in Vermont.
